FARM BUREAU GROUPS ELECT OFFICERS; MANY TO ATTEND NATIONAL CONVENTION

The last of the seven scheduled community Farm Bureau meetings was held last Friday night at the Palestine Community House, when genial Roy Bard was re-elected president of that community group by acclamation. For his untiring efforts as community president, Mr. Bard was given a vote of thanks by the approximately 200 members who make up the enthusiastic group.

Other officers elected were R. B. Mobley, vice-president and Homer Weatherspoon, secretary-treasurer.

During the evening short talks were made by the members of the County Board of Directors and from County Farm Bureau President Charles Wright who said "when you think of such evils as Communism, Socialism, and the other isms that there are in the world, it makes us feel so grateful for the wonderful Americanism shown here tonight. Why would anybody want to make a change?"

Principal speaker for the evening was Roscoe Stone of Fulton county, a member of the Kentucky Farm Bureau State Board. Mr. Stone carefully elaborated upon the several proposed changes in the constitution of the state organization that will be brought before the convention to be held in January at Louisville.

Addressing the meeting also were popular, J. B. McGehee and John Watts, secretary-treasurer of the Fulton County Farm Bureau and County agent, respectively.

Recognized as one of the finest county Farm Bureau groups, not only in Kentucky, but in the United States, or perhaps the world, the leaders of the group are striving for 1000 members for 1948. The organization is pointed out as having the highest percentage of membership of any group in Kentucky and one of the highest in the Nation.

If you have not joined the Fulton County Farm Bureau, you are urged to do so today. Failure to do so is your loss—the eds.

Highlighting the evening's entertainment were musical numbers and comedy skits presented by Jack Foy and his partner Elmer Foy. Musical solos were rendered by Charlotte Ann Wiseman, accompanied by Jack Foy, who presented several of his original compositions.

Food for the evening was prepared by the ladies of the community whose reputation can best be described by quick exchange of words between Jim McGehee and Roy Bard.

"What would the Fulton County Farm Bureau be without the ladies of the Homemakers Club," said Jim in eloquent words praising the ladies of the county.

"Hungry," said Roy Bard . . . And that's only half of it.

Other community elections held in County Farm Bureau are as follows:

Cayce on November 19, re-elected Chas. E. Adams, pres., elected Hugh E. Garrigan, Jr. vice-pres., and John P. Wilson, sec'y. and treas.

Crutchfield on November 20, elected Neal Little, pres., and O. C. Howell, vice-pres., re-elected J. R. Elliott, sec'y. and treas.

Western on November 21, elected Raymond King, pres., and Kelly Conder, vice-pres., re-elected Kermit Parks, sec'y. and treas.

Sylvan Shade on November 26, re-elected all three officers, as follows: Lucian H. Isbell, pres., Leonard Bacon Maddox, vice-pres., and Milt J. Shaw, sec'y. and treas.

Hickman on November 28, elected J. C. Bondurant, pres., and C. A. Lattus, vice-pres., re-elected Roland Green, sec'y. and treas.

Bronsville on November 29, re-elected Guy Barnett, pres., Clarence Young, vice-pres., and Irvin Edwards, sec'y. and treas.

Little Phoebe

"It's the rhumba, no?"
"It's the bamba, yes?"
"It's like the conga, you mean," said the two curbstones as they discussed the possibility of an auto with St. Vitus dance.

But Little Phoebe just laughed and laughed because she knew that they were just looking at the cars trying like heck to worm their way down Second street just off Lake. They don't have to wear a girle, but it helps to pass an eastbound nag with a westbound back with a southbound curvey on a southbound track.

RECOUNT STILL SAYS MCDADE IS MAYOR GAINS 1 VOTE

In spite of protests filed with the election commissioners of Obion county, "Marrying Squire," S. A. McDade was declared mayor of South Fulton, Tenn., in a recount of the votes, which netted the winner an additional vote at the outset. McDade polled three more votes than his opponent J. H. Lowe, incumbent on the basis of unofficial returns following the election. The recount gave him a four-vote lead. Final vote was 96-92.

Another protest filed concerning the filing of tardy campaign expenditures by the Squire also amounted to naught, when it was revealed that attempts to file the report were unsuccessful because of the absence from his office of the proper official with which to file the expenditures.

Election commissioners of Obion county are Tom Elam and Charles Everett.

Ten County Delegates Attend National Meet

Charles E. Wright, president of the Fulton County Farm Bureau announced today that ten delegates, representing each community Farm Bureau in the county, were being sent to the National Convention of the American Farm Bureau in Chicago on December 14-18. Each delegate will have his transportation and hotel reservations paid for by the community he represents.

The delegates are as follows: Roy Bard, from Palestine; H. W. Walker from Crutchfield; Hugh E. Garrigan, Jr., from Cayce; Lucian H. Isbell, from Sylvan Shade; C. K. Davis from Hickman; Guy Barnett from Bronsville; Kelly Conder from Western; and J. B. McGehee as secretary and treasurer of the county organization; Mrs. J. B. McGehee will represent the Associated Women; Mrs. Roy D. Taylor, president Fulton County Homemakers will represent both the Fulton County Farm Bureau and the Fulton County Homemakers.

Palestine on December 5, also re-elected all three officers, Roy Bard, pres., R. B. Mobley, vice-pres., and Homer Weatherspoon, sec'y. and treas.

All seven of these presidents elected from their communities will be elected to serve on the County Board of Directors if they are confirmed at the Annual County Convention to be held next February for the ensuing year following the convention, so Mr. McGehee stated. He also stated that the new Board would also consist of two women directors representing the Homemakers and later confirmed at the convention, with the additional Board members to be elected direct from the floor consisting of the chairman of the associated women and two directors at large one from each end of the county.

The secretary stated further that this year attendance to all the community elections exceeded by far, any other year with actual attendance of 815 at all seven communities. From all indications, the 1000 members will be obtained this year by January 1st which will probably be the largest percentage of farm-bureau members of any county in the United States. Membership standing for this year is 767, only 233 more to go.

Mr. McGehee is so enthused, he says, "don't take my word for it, look at the leaders from each community."

CHIEF K. P. DALTON

CITY POLICE FORCE CHANGES MADE BY BOAZ

The resignation of Chief of Police K. P. Dalton and the appointment of G. J. (Gip) McDade as acting chief was announced today by T. T. Boaz, mayor of Fulton. Mr. Dalton handed in his resignation on Monday of this week to become effective on Friday, December 12. The remainder of Mr. Dalton's term which expires January 1, 1948 will be filled by Mr. McDade. The appointment of a permanent chief of police will be given consideration by the City Council.

Mr. McDade has been an employee of the City of Fulton for nearly twelve years and prior to that time served in this locale as a deputy sheriff. A resident of the city for more than 25 years, he has had wide experience in law-enforcing procedure.

In a statement to the News, today, Mr. McDade said that "in accepting the office of acting chief I will do my very best to see that the laws of the city are strictly enforced."

Mr. Dalton, who joined the police force in September 1933 and who was made chief in June 1937 has made no announcement of his future plans but indicated that he would continue to reside in Fulton and would go into other fields of endeavor around January 1.

In relinquishing his post as Chief of Police Mr. Dalton told the News, "I have enjoyed my work with the city immensely and have had the pleasure of working with some mighty fine men on the council. I have worked in harmony with all of them and disagreed only once and that was when they voted uniforms for the force. I refused to wear a uniform and will the next time I have a job that calls for a uniform, unless it's the uniform of Uncle Sam."

Mr. Dalton served the city for the first time during the term of Paul DeMyer as mayor and was reappointed by Mayor Boaz with whom he has worked ever since.

FULTON HIGH-LIGHTS by JANE SHELBY

Well, ole gang, ole sox, ole shoes here I am again, making a second stab at this job of writing.

Every girl in school must have been green with envy last Friday night as Marilee Beadles was the only girl present at the football banquet. Just imagine being there with all those he-man football players. You lucky girl.

It seems that the Rotarians wondered if the football boys might like a change of the location of the football banquet. The decision was left to the boys, however, and they voted unanimously to have the banquet at the Cafeteria, instead of the Rainbow Room. I wonder if the fact that the second year home ex. girls were to be the waitresses at the cafeteria, could have biased their decision?

I have been reading about cities where jitterbugging was going out of style, but I didn't really believe it till the other night when I went to a dance. Sure enough, even right here in Fulton, jitterbugging is definitely going out. When a fast place was played, there were only about three couples dancing (and most of the time, two of the three couples were girls dancing together). All these boys that say they can't dance can surely get up enough pep to waltz. How times are changing.

The Seniors of Fulton and Union City high schools participated in a "Quiz of Two Cities," last Sunday afternoon, over station WENK. Our contestants were Billy Campbell, Jackie Bard, and Read Holland. We lost by a score of 18 to 16, but we're not disheartened. They had plenty of moral support even though we couldn't give them a hint. Maybe in a few weeks we can have another try at it.

Wonder if Betty Sue Johnson has been eating gun-powder . . . those certainly are mighty pretty bangs she's sporting. Some folks do and some folks don't, but Betty Sue really looks bang-up in bangs.

Ever see anything as wish as Becky Fay Harden and Billy Campbell at the football dance last Friday night. Becky looked like something out of a story-book with her ballerina skirt and Gibson girl blouse.

Wonder if Read Holland is still trying to figure out why you can't prune a prune tree. He says you could on the "Quiz of Two Cities" program, but friend Billy Campbell says it can't be done. That was some fine sparring you did on that answer Billy, but suppose you know now that prunes don't grow they're made . . . from plums, ya know!

And for your mystery bone to enow on this week your scribe wonders what happened from the time a ticket was bought for the dance Friday night to the time "Home, Sweet Home," was played. Yea, and I say to you that a local swain, senior grade, bought a ticket for one lass and took another home. Tsk, Tsk, is chilavry.

Parade to Usher in St. Nick At 2:30 pm; Will Take Orders

Santa Claus, the bewhiskered gentleman of the Christmas season will arrive in Fulton aboard the City of New Orleans at 2:30 p. m. on Saturday, December 13. He will arrive at the depot. Through the courtesy of the Illinois Central and T. K. (Tom) Williams, longtime resident of Fulton and now superintendent of the Kentucky Division, a special train was sent to the North Pole and met at Chicago by the City of New Orleans, so that St. Nick could come here and spread cheer to the kiddies and grown-ups of Fulton.

Santa Claus wired Clifford Shields, president of the Young Men's Business Club that he was making plans to be here this Saturday, next Saturday and on Christmas Eve to take last minute orders for toys and gifts for every member of the family.

At the station he will be met by city officials and members of civic organizations and will ride down Lake street.

Through the courtesy of Mayor Boaz and the City Fire Department Santa Claus will ride the fire truck down Lake street. Mayor Boaz is issuing an invitation to all the kiddies in Fulton and surrounding area to visit the city on each Saturday that Santa will make his visit here.

Santa Claus, the Young Men's Business Club and all the folks in Fulton are inviting you to bring the kiddies to see Santa, because if there's not a big crowd to greet him he may not bring all the presents asked for.

An invitation is especially issued to children and grown-ups in the surrounding towns to visit for a few minutes with the good ole resident of the North Pole.

NEW PHONE BOOK FOR FULTON NOW OUT

"That number has been changed" is outdated now for a new telephone directory for Fulton, containing many new and changed listings and other helpful telephone information has just been distributed.

Approximately 2311 new directories have been delivered to homes and offices, according to F. H. Riddle, manager for the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

The new directory has a gray cover, which makes it easily distinguishable from the old green-covered telephone book.

Mr. Riddle asks that telephone users refer to the new directory for the desired number. Looking up the number helps avoid the possibility of getting a wrong number, and frequently saves time for the calling party as well as the party who might be called in error. Consulting the directory also helps make the best use of already crowded central office equipment. "Information" should be called only when the desired number is not listed in the directory.

Because of the continuing paper shortage, only a limited supply of directories could be printed, and Mr. Riddle requests that good care be taken of the new copies. He also suggests that the old directories be turned over to scrap paper collectors with other waste paper.

"Who're You Kidding, Washington?"

In the Publisher's Auxiliary, trade journal and the "bible" of the newspaper profession, we have read an article that prompts us to say "amen" on this pleasant day in December.

The article is about you, and us, and about all the fine little people who make up the "grass roots" that the folks in Washington refer to. Yes, we are the folks they consider the great criterion of national activity, the folks they want to please when making laws, the groups they poll for public opinion to see how the wheels are turning.

We are the folks they talk about most and please the least. And if you don't believe it, take the case of the Freedom Train.

The Young Men's Business Club headed by public-spirited Clifford Shields, and composed of the most energetic group of members anywhere in Kentucky, tried their dead level best to get the Freedom Train to make a stop at Fulton. No luck! Of course the train can't stop at every hamlet with a railroad station, but we think that in view of our city's strategic position as a railroad center it could possibly have made a stop here.

We could elaborate on the chagrin we feel when communities such as ours are ignored, but we'll publish the story in the Publisher's Auxiliary, for it fits our sentiments to a "T."

"Apparently Washington still thinks that the United States consists of only the metropolitan cities, David J. Kreinson, director of the Bradford (Pa.) Journal, complains in a recent issue of his paper.

"With the Freedom Train rolling across the country, few smaller cities and communities have been privileged to inspect the historical documents and the many things that were part of the mortar that went into the moulding and building of our great country," he continues.

"We think it is about time that Washington and its publicity-minded departments thought something of the communities, towns and smaller cities when trying to spread good-will and patriotism," he concludes.

"Kreinson specifically suggests that the train 'would not have to stop at every whistle-stop' but that 'it could be brought into Bradford where near 60,000 persons of McKean county could thrill at its exhibits.'"

(Editor's Note: This is not the first complaint weekly editors have voiced concerning the Freedom Train. Some publishers have arranged tours to near-by cities where the train stopped. Others have asked as has Kreinson, that some consideration be given of urban citizens although the physical impossibility of a stop in every community is apparent).

Webb Chosen As

Legion Looking For Convention Slogans

Can you think of a good slogan for the 30th national convention of The American Legion in Miami, October 17 to 21, 1948?

If so, National Convention Director Ed McGall of The American Legion would like to have it—but soon. Preferably he would like a slogan that would tie in the 1948 vacation plans with next year's American Legion convention.

The slogan for the 18th national convention in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1936 was, "Cleveland for a Perfect '36."

As a starter for the Miami convention slogan, here is a sample: "KEEP THAT MIAMI DATE IN 1948!"

Can you improve on it?

By David M. Porter

"In the early days of the 'New Deal,' the President and Congress were constantly hampered by decisions of the Supreme Court that were killing proposed social and economic reforms. It was a conservative Court with a liberal Congress and President. The President and the Attorney General were constantly fighting to change their views and finally with the death and retirement of a number of them, a court with a more liberal viewpoint, gave interpretations of the law that permitted such things as the TVA, REA, Social Security and Old Age Assistance.

The interpretation of the Court of Appeals last week brought the above incidents to mind, for our State has been hampered by a Constitution that was drawn in 1791, and times and conditions have certainly changed, bringing new problems and new needs for Government. One thing that has been a drawback to the State and its people is the Section 246 that puts a limitation of five thousand a year on State officers. In 1891 that was a comparatively large sum and certainly a fair one for State officials, but now it is not adequate. Our schools certainly need the best authorities to train our future leaders in Engineering, Science, Medicine and all the other specialized vocations in our modern system of living. How can we expect to get good professors in our Universities and Colleges for $5000 a year when they can make from two to five times as much in private industry and future is unrestricted with no salary limitation?

This brings on the important and long question of laws being changed or circumvented without the approval of the people and thus the ultimate danger of a dictatorship. I think that is far-fetched and impossible with our system of Government.

One of the big events in the lives of Kentuckians is the Inauguration of a new Governor. It starts four years under a different personality, with new promises and new hopes and I think this time a bright future for Kentuckians.

Husband-Plus $2.55
Gets Wife Lap Table

With the help of her husband for about three hours and $2.55, Mrs. Cecil Fisher of Pulaski county made a lap table which has saved her considerable lifting and carrying. Using scrap lumber for the table which they painted, they bought large, substantial ball-bearing rollers to permit it to be moved about easily. The table has been found useful for canning, sewing, preparing meals and studying, as well as for transporting tubfuls of water from pump to washing machine. Mrs. Fisher learned how helpful such a table can be from Miss Ida C. Hagman, home management specialist at the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

FARMERS ADVISED TO INVEST IN EQUIPMENT TO SAVE TIME, LABOR

Farmers should invest now in labor-saving devices, according to Ernest R. Acker of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., president of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp.

Pointing out to the farmers they have a little more money in their pockets than they had five or ten years ago, Mr. Acker said in a broadcast:

"By investing now in labor-saving devices, you will not only increase profits immediately, but will assure yourself of maintaining better margins, if future markets shrink."

Among the newer labor-saving devices, Mr. Acker declared, are the automatic stable cleaner which does a 90-minute job in 20 minutes, the milk can lifter, the hay and grain elevators, and modern lighting system for barn and yard to save "groping time" before dawn and after dark.

"On poultry farms, electric brooders and egg-cleaning machines are recognized labor-saving devices," Mr. Acker continued. "More recently the extension of water systems into the laying houses and out on the range to supply automatic fountains has been made possible by the use of automatic controls and electric heating cable to prevent freezing in the winter."

The automatic electric milk cooler has gained universal acceptance because of the great labor-saving it produces, Mr. Acker said, and the milking machine has gained almost equal acceptance. "The more recent practice of 'three-minute milking' by machine as against 'six-minute milking' by hand has put the machine age for milking solidly on its feet," he explained.

GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNAMENT TO BE IN LOUISVILLE

William A. Moore, Superintendent of the Louisville Division of Recreation, has announced that the Kentucky District Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament will be held in Louisville Male High School gymnasium on January 15, 19, 22 and 26.

The tournament is to be jointly sponsored by the Louisville and Jefferson County Amateur Boxing Association. Net proceeds are to be donated to charities yet to be named.

The Kentucky Golden Gloves set-up is the same as in past years. Competition is to be held in all weight classifications in both the Open and Novice Divisions, with all divisional champions earning an expense-paid trip to the Regional Tournament at Evansville, Ind.

Any boy may compete in the big amateur show as long as he is a bona fide amateur and possesses an Amateur Athletic Union Membership card, which may be obtained at the Recreation Division Office in Central Park, Louisville, where entries now are being accepted. To enter the Golden Gloves a boy must fill out an entry blank which may be obtained from the Recreation Division, Central Park, Louisville 8, Ky., and return this blank properly filled out to the same address.

NEW BOOKS FOR WINTER READING

BACK HOME. By Bill Mauldin. New York: William Sloane Associates. $3.50.

This is the Book-of-the-Month Club selection for November. That fact says in a few words a great deal about this book. Bill Mauldin achieved his first fame as a cartoonist in the army, and his first book, UP FRONT, was an immediate success.

Like multitudes of the young men who fought the war, Mauldin was just a kid when he went in; he had not really found out what life is all about. He is out of uniform now, and is finding out that the world is not as perfect a place as he hoped it was, and that people in general allow other people, in positions of authority, to make monkeys out of them far too much of the time.

He writes simply, directly, honestly. He tells his story with some fifty thousand words and two hundred pictures of life in the post-war world. He discusses used car dealers, repairmen, unscrupulous landlords, dishonest Congressmen, professional red-baiters, and proponents of religious intolerance. He names names and pulls no punches. And the picture he paints of our "America-way of life" is not a pretty picture.

The book has its weak spots. Mauldin belabors some points, repeats himself on others. He does not know the answers to our dilemma. But he is so obviously sincere in condemnations and his pleadings, that reading this book is something you ought to do, whether you too are just beginning to experience the eye-opening disillusionment which is Bill Mauldin's, or whether you have come to accept conditions as they are without protesting. It is bound to make you think.

WHEN YOU MARRY. By Evelyn M. Duvall and Reuben Hill. New York: Association Press. $3.00.

The publishers of WHEN YOU MARRY are convinced that if more people knew about this book it would be a best seller, and we agree. Written by two competent authorities in the field of family relations it covers "the gamut of personal relationships from first date to last baby." Handled in an extremely readable style with clever cartoons and sketches, it is interesting as it is valuable. The problems of dating, going steady, and pre-marital relationships are discussed—thoroughly and frankly. Difficulties of the marriage adjustment itself from sex to the family budget shed new light on old questions. Particularly refreshing are the sections on quarreling. Here no words are minced, nothing left unsaid. Quarreling is understood in its psychological setting, and certain types of quarrels are regarded as valuable in that they provide needed emotional release (But not all are valuable!) This book is an ideal gift for a couple planning to be married, and is of equal value to families already established. It's the best book we've seen in this field.

COUNTRY PLACE. By Ann Petry. Boston: Houghton Mifflin. $2.75. The author of THE STREET has a new book out. It is about life in a New England town, and tells the story of half a dozen people in the village of Lennox, whose lives are intertwined through marriage and death, love and hate. The undercurrents which move and shape these lives are seen by the village druggist, who tells the story. He tells to Johnnie Roane, just home from the war, and his beautiful and cruel young wife, Glory. It tells of Glory's mother, Lil, married to Mearns Gramby, only son of the wealthy old widow in the town. There is the Weasel, the shifty-eyed cab driver, and Barrell, lover of all women. A hurricane brings the seething emotions to the boiling point: a disillusioned Johnnie finds his wife in a rendezvous with her lover; and a murder attempt is thwarted. The climax leaves one rather breathless, with the feeling that this gal Ann Petry knows how to tell a story.

TOLERATION

Toleration is good for all or it is good for none.—Burke.

The responsibility of tolerance lies with those who have the wider vision.—George Eliot.

I have learned silence from the talkative, toleration from the intolerant, and kindness from the unkind; yet strange, I am ungrateful to those teachers.—Kahlil Gibran.

We should endeavor to be long-suffering, faithful, and charitable with all. To this small effort let us add one more privilege—namely, silence whenever it can substitute censure.—Mary Eddy.

KENTUCKY CHILDREN TO CARE FOR STATE'S NEEDY WILLIS REPORT

With the slogan, "Kentucky goes forward on the feet of its children," Kentucky Children, Inc., has set into operation a program to help meet the health, welfare, educational and recreational needs of all the children of the state regardless of creed or color. Plans include aid in establishing Boys' Clubs, Teen-Age Canteens and "Bookmobiles." Scholarship aids are included for children in areas served by Settlement Schools and for worthy students wishing to attend Kentucky colleges. Assistance is offered to Save the Children Federation to enable it to extend service to more Kentucky counties.

Kentucky Children, Inc., is a non-profit organization. Its officials say it will raise funds for distribution to agencies not adequately provided for by local, county, state or national enterprises, or by churches or individuals. It plans to help its approved agencies in the state and not to conflict with any existing welfare organization.

Believing that Boys' Clubs, Teen-Age canteens, recreational and educational projects reduce juvenile delinquency and help mold young people into good citizens, the organization proposes to help communities set up such projects. It will make an initial contribution and then the community will be responsible for their upkeep and continuance.

In the field of education, Kentucky Children, Inc., plans to aid children served by such settlement schools as Annville Institute in Jackson county; Buckhorn School in Perry county; Red Bird Settlement School in Bell county and Pine Mountain Settlement School in Harlan county.

WAA SELLS RIFLES TO HELP ST. NICK BRING XMAS CHEER

Santa Claus will have to hook a trailer behind his sleigh this year, or ten thousand boys may lose their faith in the old gentleman. That is, in case they hear about those ten thousand dummy rifles that Edmund Dean of Cincinnati bought this week from War Assets Administration. And Dean will see that they do hear about them. Otherwise he may have to store them somewhere. Maybe in Fibber McGee's closet.

But with Christmas just around the corner Dean does not anticipate any trouble in disposing of them. The army used them for training purposes in the early days of the war. They are standard Springfield models with highly varnished stock, imitation metal barrel and a lock that makes a loud 'click' when you pull the trigger.

Dean picked them up at a WAA sealed bid sale, and plans to get them into retail stores in time to catch the eye of Junior on his trip through Santa Claus Land.

Buyers from 13 states were interested in the rifles, but the entire lot (9,993) was awarded to Dean, a veteran, on a bid of $1.12-1-2 each.

After Junior gets through fighting Indians and the last red-skin bites the dust, the stocks may come in handy for mashing potatoes or killing rats—or something.

FARM BUREAU QUEEN TO BE SELECTED AT LOUISVILLE JAN. 7

To leave no doubt that Kentucky's fame for beautiful girls is fully justified, a Farm Bureau Queen of 1948 will be crowned by the Associated Women of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation during the organization's annual convention Jan. 7-9 in Louisville, says Mrs. Greenwood Cocanougher, Association Women's director.

Women Farm Bureau leaders believe that a high proportion of the beautiful girls come from the country, and they are setting out to prove it by selecting a Farm Bureau Queen. They also believe that beauty in Kentucky is more than "skin deep," so it will take leadership, intelligence and other accomplishments, as well as beauty, to win.

Each county Farm Bureau in Kentucky (110 of them) has been asked to select a queen and enter her in the state contest. Numerous counties already have indicated that they will have a county queen in the state contest, though no actual selections have been reported as yet.

Each contestant will be judged on her scholastic standing, leadership activities and family Farm Bureau record, as well as her appearance. She must be between the ages of 15 and 20 and be endorsed by her county Farm Bureau.

The winner will receive $25 and an all-expense trip to the convention; second place and honorable mention awards will be an all-expense trip to the convention. Out-state judges will score the contestants and make the final award.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The fanatical, misguided zealots who are trying to transplant one or other of the totalitarian slave systems to free America have counted some chickens before they were hatched. One of these chicks is their assumption that the sons and daughters of men and women who migrated to this country from Europe would welcome their ideologies.

One has but to give this a bit of thought to realize why, with a few isolated exceptions, these American citizens of foreign forebears are turning deaf ears and giving the cold shoulders to these would-be destroyers of "The American Way."

What is now the United States was first of all settled by people who had come from Europe to escape restrictions of their religious, political and social liberties, and set up on this continent a new social order of life.

After the Revolutionary War, word began to trickle back to Europe that here, in America something new and beautiful had been launched. Millions of Europeans, weary of oppression and lack of opportunity in the lands in which they lived, cast longing eyes at America and determined that some day they would pull up stakes and come to this land of freedom and opportunity.

During the 19th Century, millions of them did come. America needed them, welcomed them and put them to work. Here they began to enjoy the things they had dreamed about; here they found no caste system; here they discovered that a man by his skill and toil could carve his own niche in society.

But, of the great many millions who looked with envious eyes across the sea and planned eventually to come here, only a comparatively few millions actually came. It takes great courage to tear oneself up by the roots and trek to a foreign land.

And so, those who actually did come, were those who wanted freedom and opportunity badly enough to, courageously take the plunge. They had the real pioneering spirit that was so necessary to assist in the further developing of America. They were the strong, the courageous, the intelligent of the countries from which they came. They were the "cream of the crop."

They made a tremendous contribution to the building of America. America contributed in large measure to them. The rosy reports they had heard about this glorious land, they found to be no exaggeration. They came—they saw—they worked—they participated in the good things that America afforded—they were content.

That is why the communists and peddlers of other slave economics have failed to arouse a spark of interest among our citizens of foreign ancestry. These people are descendants of the strong, intelligent and heroic of Europe. In the final analysis, there is something to heredity and especially when it is given an opportunity to take root in an ideal environment. The courage which inspired their forebears to come here, is reborn and relieves in them—they are not in the market for anything but good sound Americanism.

A record book should be standard equipment on a good farm, even if it does "show up" what goes on, and what comes off.

Terrel Nofsinger of Bullitt county sold 22 late lambs which averaged 92 pounds for $24.50 a hundred pounds.

It is estimated that 50,000 pounds of tobacco were primed in Taylor county, following eight cutting and priming demonstrations.
